Dear Colleagues,

Our announced combination with Berry Global is a rare opportunity to bring two exceptional and complementary companies together to transform the packaging industry and to become a global leader in consumer and healthcare packaging solutions. I am happy to share some of the progress we've made on this exciting journey.

We kicked off our integration planning activities by bringing together teams from both Amcor and Berry to plan for integration and how we will work effectively to ensure a successful start as a unified company post-closing. More than 50 colleagues from across the globe gathered over the course of two weeks in Miami and Deerfield to form global workstreams and align on roles, resources, processes, tools and timing. Each workstream is co-led by one Amcor and one Berry colleague to facilitate smooth collaboration, easy alignment and seamless information flow. As we move forward, regional integration leads will join the team, and planning will continue regularly until the official integration.

The team's energy during the workshops was very inspiring as they explored how to combine the best of both worlds, create value and map out a plan to accelerate what's possible.

As we move forward, key milestones are already taking shape. Regulatory review is progressing, and shareholder meetings are scheduled for Feb. 25, 2025 <LINK TO PRESS RELEASE>. We expect to officially combine into one organization by midyear. Until then, it's important to remember that Amcor and Berry Global will continue to operate as two independent companies.

We understand you may have questions and seek guidance along the way. To provide easy access to the latest information, we have created the Amcor-Berry combination SharePoint site. Here, you will find the most current FAQs, dos and don'ts and helpful information about Berry Global. I encourage you to familiarize yourself with the information provided.

This is a very exciting time for Amcor colleagues as we prepare to bring together the best of both organizations. Each of us plays a vital role in ensuring the success of this combination. The best way to contribute right now is by staying focused on our base business, delivering excellence to our customers and continuing to prioritize the health and safety of our teams worldwide.

Thank you for being an invaluable part of this journey.
