Sezzle Initiates Lawsuit against GameStop, Inc

Sezzle Inc. (ASX:SZL) (Sezzle or Company) // advises that it has initiated a lawsuit against GameStop, Inc. (GME) for breach of contract related to GameStop's failure to maintain links to Sezzle's financing services throughout its website.

In its complaint, Sezzle alleges that GameStop violated its two-year merchant agreement with the company when it prematurely removed Sezzle's functionality from its cart page and product detail pages without notifying Sezzle in direct breach of the contract. When called on the breach, GameStop responded by terminating Sezzle, again without notice, and has since ceased paying its invoices. In its answer to Sezzle's complaint, GameStop admits that it removed Sezzle's widget and that currently Sezzle is not used on the GameStop website. As a result of the breach of its merchant agreement with GameStop, Sezzle is seeking $1.4 million in damages and related service fees that GameStop has failed to pay, as well as marketing costs spent on GameStop's behalf.

This announcement was approved by the Company's CEO and Executive Chair, Charlie Youakim, on behalf of the Sezzle Inc. Board.

Sezzle's CDIs are issued in reliance on the exemption from registration contained in Regulation S of the US Securities Act of 1933 (Securities Act) for offers of securities which are made outside the US. Accordingly, the CDIs have not been, and will not be, registered under the Securities Act or the laws of any state or other jurisdiction in the US. As a result of relying on the Regulation S exemption, the CDIs are 'restricted securities' under Rule 144 of the Securities Act. This means that you are unable to sell the CDIs into the US or to a US person who is not a QIB for the foreseeable future, unless the re-sale of the CDIs is registered under the Securities Act or another exemption is available. To enforce the above transfer restrictions, all CDIs issued bear a FOR Financial Product designation on the ASX. This designation restricts any CDIs from being sold on ASX to US persons excluding QIBs. However, you are still able to freely transfer your CDIs on ASX to any person other than a US person who is not a QIB. In addition, hedging transactions with regard to the CDIs may only be conducted in accordance with the Securities Act.
